TICKETS TERMS & CONDITIONS

All ticket holders are subject to the National Park Service's Terms of Use and Acquisition printed below.

Ticket holders assume all responsibility for allowing others access to their tickets and are solely responsible to ensure the tickets awarded to them are not duplicated. Tickets must be presented in a full and complete state. It may be considered VOID if ripped, torn, or cut.

Each ticket has its own bar code that will be scanned for admission; a later-presented duplicate of the ticket will be considered VOID and will not be honored. The resale or attempted resale of a ticket is prohibited and will result in the ticket being voided without compensation. Tickets obtained from unauthorized sources may be lost, stolen, duplicated, or counterfeit, and if so, are considered VOID. No refunds/exchanges. Tickets lost or stolen cannot be replaced. Tickets may not be used for advertising promotion (including contests and sweepstakes), or other trade purposes. No pets are allowed except service animals.

The event is expected to take place rain or shine. Ticket holders bear all risk including cancellation of the event and of inclement weather.

The National Park Service reserves the right to refuse admission or to remove any person who fails to comply with these Ticket Terms of Use as well as applicable National Park Service regulations, District of Columbia or Federal law for conduct deemed illegal by the United States Park Police, United States Secret Service or the National Park Service personnel. Persons entering the ticketed area are subject to search.
